The length, which forms the basis for the first, and more important, character, is seven. However, the first letter and the last one are distinct in sound. Analysis of first, second, third, fourth and fifth letter shows that the first, second, third, fourth and fifth letters spell "year" in Hebrew. I'm struggling to install the licence manager that comes with the software on a new laptop. The licence manager says that I can't install it unless I upgrade to the 18+ version? The great thing about the Plugin Manager for Emacs, is that it allows you to have several applications running simultaneously in Emacs. Using the Plug Manager you can run Vim and Vim Sandbox, both at the same time. In this project both are kept on separate buffers and can be used simultaneously in these modes. It is very cool, and the scripts that are available are very useful for any number of things. There are functions such as signal handling, independent of what is being edited. In addition, it provides things like timer management.

Q: Generalize n-th degree homomorphism Given two sets  $A$  and  $B$  is there an algorithm that given a function  $g:A \rightarrow B$  and  $n \in \mathbb{N}$  decides whether there exists a function  $h:A^n \rightarrow B$  such that  $f(a_1, \dots, a_n) = h(g(a_1), \dots, g(a_n))$  for all  $a_1, \dots, a_n \in A$ ? One can easily check that if  $n = 1$  this is true by definition. I would appreciate any pointers for ideas. Thanks

A: As Longair answered, there are many special cases of the question. But in the general case, there is no such algorithm. I don't know why you would want such an algorithm. It is not hard to see that there is always a choice for  $h$ , and the cardinality of the image of  $h$  is at most  $2^n$ . So the only way to rule out such a function would be to check  $2^{2^n}$  functions

Urea nitrogen concentration was determined in the hair of mature female red deer and mouflon from the Iberian Peninsula. The former animals presented higher values when compared to the latter. After sacrifice, the liver, lungs, kidneys, pancreas, spleen, heart, stomach, uterus, mammary glands, trachea, bronchus and lung-respiratory tract of pregnant female red deer were collected. They exhibited higher urea nitrogen concentration in the liver, lungs, pancreas, heart, stomach, trachea, bronchus and lung-respiratory tract than mouflon. In accordance with literature, the present data suggest that fetal growth in the red deer was probably higher than in mouflon. We suggest that in red deer the urea nitrogen concentration in the hair of mature female animals is probably related to the capacity of hair metabolism during the dry period, moulting and pregnancy and probably not to the postnatal growth. Kamal "KamuDama" el Andawy appeals to Greek fans to back him in game three of the double-elimination PGL Major, which kicks off tomorrow. The Egyptian player was surprisingly replaced in the Danish squad before the start of the tournament, although he was given a chance to finish off the last match of his career on Inferno, which he eventually did. His decision was clearly not approved by his team's management, as their manager Paul "Gunny" Kristensen explained that the substitution had to do with financial issues. "There have been some changes for the last few months, and we couldn't fit KamuDama into our team," he told HLTV.org. "We would like to work with him again, and we will have to see if we can get him back in our team. "But I understand the fans' opinion about what's happening, and I don't blame them for having that opinion. It is, after all, a big 3da54e8ca3
