no. What about your parents? she asks. - They are... They are... I do not know... I never had parents! - The God...She tries to take my hand, but I sharply push her away. - You hurt... Nothing, I'm used to it. I shrug. I don't want my mind to be read. - You don't have parents. says a girl with a sad face. - It just so happened. I say sadly, realizing that now I have no one. - Are you going to live in the camp now? - Good... - Yes I know. And how are you... - I do not want to talk. - Why? - I don't have time for this. - It's clear. She looks at me again and is about to say something. But he doesn't succeed. The door opens. - Hey! I'll cut your head off right now! The girl quickly moves away and hides. I turn towards the door. In front of me is a man in a dark blue jacket with a mask over his face. He looks at me and smiles. - Well, looks like we have a new one. he tells me. - Not so much. I would even say no. - You? - Yes, we have. The man takes out a knife. - Oh no! I grab my neck right away. - Not worth it. He smirks and then takes my head and turns it the other way. - For people like you. The man looks at me. I smell smoke and hear some strange sound. The man looks at me and leaves. I feel like someone is squeezing my throat. I gasp, but I keep looking at the door. Two people emerge from the darkness. They close the door and head towards me. I try to stop them, but they come at me. I try to break free but they won't let me. They pick me up and carry me somewhere. I gasp for air, but I can't, and I suffocate. I look at them. They are smiling. - It'll all be over soon. I feel like I've been placed on something solid. I try to scream but I can't. I smell smoke. I feel like I'm out of breath
