MessagePal is a simple, secure, instant messaging solution designed to make your organization's instant messaging more affordable and effective. This peer-to-peer network eliminates the need for expensive, unreliable servers and central administration, and provides you with all the instant messaging features of a consumer-oriented, ad-supported IM service at a fraction of the cost. MessagePal includes a powerful, easy-to-use "Server" client that allows you to extend your network of LAN users across multiple offices, campuses, or even across your entire organization. You can also use this LAN messaging server to securely exchange files, send calendar and task information, and link to other services from MessagePal's website. MessagePal can also be installed and run as a Windows service that will make it even easier for you to set up and manage. You can also use the Server client to start the network of clients that will make up your workgroup. For example, you can invite students to join your workgroup by just distributing a server client to the students. Then, they can start their own client on their own PCs, and you won't have to worry about spamming or emailing the server client to each user. MessagePal offers unique LAN messaging features such as:

- Unique Support System: Designed to run completely within the Windows system, and be completely controlled from the native Windows desktop.
- Cross-platform: Works with PCs and Macs.
- Drag-and-Drop Clients: Allow users to drag and drop files to the client window.
- No Need for CD Rom: MessagePal is completely self contained, and can be downloaded and installed over the network with a USB flash drive.
- No Email Required: The client will just work with standard mail clients like Outlook Express and Windows Mail.
- Works on Any Windows PC: Works with Windows 98SE, 2000, XP, Vista, and Windows 7.
- Windows Service: Runs as a service on a PC and will start automatically after installation.
- Groups: Allow you to define "group lists" on the server and distribute them to clients.
- Task Lists: Allow you to give clients reminders and reports on their own tasks. File Sharing: Send and receive files with clients. No Video: Allows you to run the client with the image quality of an old DOS program. 1-Click Replies: Reply to a message with one click. One-Time Password: Password security that will not work the second time you use it. Connect to Facebook: Share messages,
