Go to the "cloud" tab and sign in with your existing Adobe ID. Go to the next step. Saving your editing for later When you are done working with an image, you can save it to your computer. Click on the small gear icon in the top right corner of the window. In the next page, you have to select either "Save for Web" or "Save for Web & Devices". Q: Problem with rendering only some characters from an XML file using XmlReader and XmlDocument I have an XML file that has the values for my Application. All seems to be fine except for the 0x0D characters (the file is UTF-8). I want to view those characters but using XmlDocument there is an exception that occurs that I can't seem to solve. The string does not change to what is happening when I use XmlDocument. The main questions are What could be the problem? How can I display in a label (or any other) using XmlReader the characters I have received in my XML? I have this XML file (it is huge) : 1008 Stackoverflow And I can't find the character in the file using XmlReader. This happens when I load the file using the code below :

BackgroundWorker1_DoWork(object sender, DoWorkEventArgs e) { XmlReader reader =
XmlReader.Create(@"C:\Info\Info.xml"); xmlText =
String.Empty; while (reader.Read()) { //var text = reader.GetAttribute("version"); if (reader.IsStartElement()) { switch (reader.Name) { case "Info": xmlText += reader.ReadElementContentAsString(); break; case
"Version": reader.Read();
