Alum is a thriller-horror adventure game about an orphan named Esther who sets out to find the whereabouts of her family - except she's got no idea where they are. Esther's journey takes her into a huge, interconnected world full of monsters and mysteries, and things change the minute she's taken in by an elderly woman named Miss Rose. You play as Esther, and in the same vein as the recent point-and-click era, with minimal interaction required in order to progress. The game's main objective is to help Esther figure out where she came from, and thus find her missing family.

a District The heart of the incredible red-rock cliffs and the Morro Bay, farther south on Highway 1, are small towns like White Cove, Garrapata, and Avila Beach, which offer quirky motels, restaurants, surf shops, and live-rock music, along with antique saloons on side streets. On a weekend anywhere in the area, the number of motorhomes, trailers, and tents is staggering. Permits for RVs and trailers are $35 in summer and $19 in winter. Parking is limited, so plan ahead. For more information, contact the San Luis Obispo County Parking and Transportation Department at 800-836-1220. Caribbean Nature Trails About fifty miles south of San Luis Obispo, Calle Arroyo Viejo (Old Road) winds 28 miles into the vast red rocks of the Pinnacles National Monument. Over the last 40 years, it's been paved and upgraded by San Luis Obispo County, with interpretive signs showing more than 170 species of flowering and native plants, including 50 that are not found anywhere else in North America. The character of this minor patch of paradise is captured in the Pinnacles name, which comes from the Spanish word for nuts, pastes, or pockets. The more than 450,000 acres of Pinnacles are covered by hardpacked clay and a thick layer of eagle talc, with a landscape of honeycombed spires, chalky pits, and an area with the highest concentration of geminid meteorites in the world. Instead of a lengthy pulloff at a natural overlook, you can park at a lot next to the quirky Pinnacles Motel south of U.S. 101, about 9 miles south of Grover Beach, California. Proceed north on Old Road to the Hurricane Ridge to Blue Canyon Junction trailhead, or stop at the turnoff for the Pinnacles Visitor Center.
