In the newest installment of the “Labours”, you will meet the same pythons, challenging bosses and traps, as before! But you will discover new, more diverse locations and time

Therefore, a new time management strategy game is added to the "Labours" series. Help Hercules overcome challenges and obstacles! This time, your goal will be to complete all your new tasks, including solving puzzles, beating bosses and finding the necessary items! URG is a retro-style, but very modern game! I decided not to make the game too retro. I didn't want to have a game that looks like I'm a 90-year-old looking at his Atari ST machine. Instead, the game looks like a modern game. The graphics are 2D, but they're very highly detailed 3D. You'll see everything in the game in full detail, even the particles. The game has 16 worlds, with over 65 levels each.

Each level contains a puzzle that will help you get to the next world. The game is in early access, as I'm still making adjustments to the gameplay. These are mostly small adjustments that I'm not releasing until the game is more polished. These will help you get the maximum enjoyment from the game. Because the game is in early access, some things are not entirely finished, like the soundtrack, or the sound effects. The soundtrack is almost finished, and the sound effects are only missing the shtick. Like most retro games, the game is pure retro fun. It's not a simulator. You won't need hours to get the full enjoyment of the game. You will however get a sense of satisfaction that you must feel when playing a good retro game. If you have a controller connected, press A to share the screen with another
