Tabletopia is a cooperative puzzle game: Fred and his father Gaston are battling to survive in a world where they can not only communicate with each other but also alter the reality of the place. Can they find the truth about the disappearance of Gaston? With Tabletopia, Fred, a restaurant owner can learn his way through an adventure game where he will have to spend time saving Gaston. Tabletopia is a game narrative told in 4 acts and composed of 100 levels. Scatter boxes have been replaced by six different zones of exploration: the living room, the kitchen, the shop, the prison room, the garden and the cemetery room. About FRITES MEDIUM Tabletopia, a restaurant story with a rich and dark tone, is a narrative game with intense puzzles. Fritkot is a restaurant. It is owned by Fred and his dad Gaston. Over the years, it has become a beacon of the the foggy district where it stands. But all of that is about to change. Two years have gone by since Gaston has died. Fred struggles to live and run the restaurant. But the restaurant is haunted by Gaston. People seem to disappear sometimes and from nowhere, the stomach of a lost man pokes out of the walls. Fred and Gaston have to find a way to restore the joy of the place, to find the truth and restore the legend of the place to the people. About the game: Tabletopia is a narrative game composed of 100 levels, where you will have to explore the 6 rooms to complete the story. When you play Tabletopia: During the game you will meet the main characters: Fred and Gaston. Fred was born to his father Gaston, former taximan of Paris. He is a restaurant owner. Gaston became a taximan because of his big mouth. He was a salesman before becoming a taximan. Gaston worked on the highway, by transporting livestock. He was very attached to animals. Gaston became a taximan for the life. He worked at the Prefecture. It was his only love affair for many years. The Prefecture of Justice was his office and his soul. His career always lagged behind. Life as a taximan was hard for Gaston. The lives of the drivers were often dominated by the rules of the road. He often had problems with the other drivers. So Gaston was not entirely happy as he had anticipated. However, his life changed one day when his

This is a business simulation game. It focuses on creating the perfect restaurant. You must use your cunning, strategy and creativity to build and run a successful restaurant. World History The game is set in 3 eras: the Industrial Era, the English Era, and the Frontier Era. Each era presents various challenges, as follows: *The Industrial Era: large potential customers to deal with. *The English Era: potential new regulations to keep in mind. *The Frontier Era: potential expansion plans to consider. World Building You start out with a plot of land, and an empty kitchen. The world is laid out before you, ready to be brought to life, on paper. Customization You can choose to play as one of three characters; each of them has their own unique skills. Solve Game Issues One of the first things you'll need to learn is how to make money. Guests come in daily, and they need to eat. Serve too many dishes too few times and your restaurant will be closed. You'll need to balance your menu and serve tasty dishes. You can also customize the appearance and music of your restaurant. Customer Satisfaction Provide your guests with a satisfying experience, and they'll keep coming back. You should aim to keep your guests happy by keeping their stays long and busy. Communication You'll need to communicate with your employees. Keep them fed, paid and happy to keep your restaurant running smoothly. How To Play: There are three characters you can play in this game. Each has their own skills and traits. Choose one of them to start the game. Play School Play school is your first job, and the one where you'll first earn money. You'll have to read pamphlets and books about your restaurant and read the recipes to learn the basics of running a restaurant. You'll have access to all areas and tools throughout the game. Setup and Demo Demo requires a game restart. Restarting is a one-time only option. It will be charged from the users credit card, as normal. This is a Full game. Once you complete the demo, the game will be charged. Each game is one cycle: Day: A restaurant day. You can play games, shop, etc. If you want to relax, then not play during a day. Off-Days: When you're not at the restaurant, you have to check on your restaurant and take care of any issues that

I was following along to this tut: and to try to not have to change every link, I decided to just use a loop. So far, it hasn't worked. I get it to display one icon fine, but when I click on the span, the whole site's title is underlined. Here's the code that is being used: HTML: Name of Services CSS: section { color:black; display:block; padding:10px 0; margin:0 0 10px; background:red; width:100%; } span.show-hide { display:none; } h3 { text-transform:capitalize; } JSFIDDLE A: it's fixed. use padding on i instead of margin section { color:black; display:block; padding:10px 0; margin:0 0 10px; background:red; width:100%; } span.show-hide { display:none; } h3 { text-transform:capitalize; }

What's new:

The rules for drawing an elemental troll magic weapon and a legendary magic weapon sound pretty similar. Both of them can use the "undead creatures" descriptor. Let's differentiate between the two pretty quickly. Undead creatures describes creatures that have died, that is made undead, or that have otherwise been transformed by magic into something that has undead attributes. Elves, vampires, liches, skeletons, shades, ghouls, and werewolves, for example, fall into this category. Living, thinking creatures that aren't produced by magics, like animals, people, and the like, are neither undead nor are they magicians either. Masters describes creatures that can use their attributes to increase the power of their weapons. They do this through casting spells on them, increasing their strength on them, or fixing weapons for them, or have a power attribute. Sauron, Medusa, and Bhelen are masters. Minions are creatures that accompany them. These creatures bring them luck and help them achieve their goals. Orcs, monsters, and creatures of myth are all minions. Our first goal is to find a weapon that is a master. Wizards of the Coast lists weapons that are master material using the "Weapon (Master)" feat in the Player's Handbook. The Crystal Shard, being a master weapon, would require that Weapon(Master) feat, like the Sword of the North. Our next goal is to find a weapon that has a class that's not uncommon for master weapons. Middle-earth weapon attributes include the "stampede" feat, allowing you to attack two squares on your turn, the "dig" feat, increasing your weapon's attack, and the "twin giant" feat, allowing you to attack multiple squares on your turn. Let's check to see if any weapons on Middle-earth have a "stampede" or "dig" item. It turns out that the Blade of the Dead King has the "stampede" feat. The Tome of the Underdark has the "dig" feat. The Greatsword of Surda contains a dwarf-forged metal blade as well. The Blade of Gralda contains a "twin giant" item. The Blade of the Dead King is now our wizard's weapon. All we need to do is

"conjure" (or cast) it, causing it to appear in our hand. We can use this weapon using the "added-feats"

(DS + PS Vita) Our most famous game is a open-world - Supermario-kart-game called "Super Mario Kart 7" - That is sold in many countries in the PAL-region as well as in the US-market and it's still selling well. We also made this game, we believe it's the best one on the AppStore. The game is called "Super Mario Bros" and it's free. We have also released a game called "Space Age" - A ultra modern 80's sci-fi shooting game with some really weird gameplay - but still, a lot of fun! Super MonoGame MonoGame is a cross-platform game framework that allows developing games for iOS, Android, Windows, Mac and Linux. In addition it has support for DirectX, XNA and OpenGL and it also runs on Nintendo Wii. Basically it is a way to create games for free with using very little resources like numbers of processor, memory, storage and GPU. The game runs on iPad, iPod touch, iPhone, Android phone and tablets. MonoGame is the native support for iPhone, iPad,

Android and Windows Phone. GAMEPLAY: In MonoGame you write your game in.xnb files and the MonoGame runtime takes care of all the functions on these files, in addition to optimized data format. The process of writing a game is very similar as in a normal game project, you use the coding-style you are familiar with, however you will create,
