Dynamic Action in ApiController to update web.config on IIS I have a web API and would like to use the SetDynamicParameters() method of the Dynamic Action to update a portion of the web.config file on my IIS server. I am using the API to input a username and password and redirect to a protected page on the website. How can I use this method to update my web.config file? A: This was a bit difficult as not all web.config information is available in the context of the current request. First, I tested the following using a simple WebRequest. System.Web.HttpContext.Current.Server.MapPath ("~/web.config"); This returned the full path to the web.config file. This is important as I only need to modify parts of the file that are not stored in the web.config file. My code is simple enough that this should suffice. Now, for the rest of the implementation, this site made some very useful suggestions: `System.Web.HttpContext.Current.Server.MapPath(@"C:\inetpub\wwwroot" + System.Web.HttpContext.Current.Server.MapPath("~/web.config"))`; This will return the full
