PES 2018 introduces “TrueBall Technology,” a soccer-ball AI engine that enables players to play at their best with a 100 percent accurate awareness of its surroundings. EA SPORTS Joins Forces EA SPORTS also announced today that it has formed a strategic partnership with the FIFA brand. This partnership will see EA SPORTS work alongside EA’s global games team to create additional games featuring FIFA content. In addition, EA SPORTS will now have exclusive rights to use the FIFA Player ID, as well as the FIFA 18 Player Pack, across titles created in the EA SPORTS portfolio, starting with The FIFA Collection. This new partnership also provides a new FIFA content delivery platform, or “toolbox,” to help EA SPORTS create more compelling games featuring the UEFA Champions League and UEFA Europa League. “For the first time, EA SPORTS joins FIFA and we are thrilled that this partnership gives us the opportunity to leverage FIFA’s global recognition, iconic brand and fan base across multiple platforms, including the soccer ball, on which we use FIFA’s lead technology, TrueBall, to make the most authentic game experience possible,” said Jon Slota, SVP, Global Brand Partnerships for EA SPORTS. The FIFA Collection FIFA will now have an enhanced FIFA Collection, which will include FIFA 18, FIFA 18 Companion and the FIFA Ultimate Team card game. The FIFA Collection will launch in Spring 2017, and will be available on a number of console and PC platforms and will be available for Xbox One, Xbox One X, PS4 and PS4 Pro. The FIFA Collection will launch simultaneously on Xbox One, Xbox One X, PS4 and PS4 Pro.
