The Blue Comet was the last Pacific express to work by diesel power. After only 5 years operation, the 'Giant of the Pacific' was left with her sister Pacific through-buses before being scrapped. Taking her place is the Baldwin G3s Pacific. A popular Pacific locomotive for many years, the G3s hauled Blue Comet trains, as well as the Pacific through-traffic. The original Blue Comet loco was based on the Pacific engine, though she had a few extra bells and whistles that helped make her a unique locomotive. To get the Blue Comet loco running in TANE you need to completely overhaul the engine with everything from block, cylinder head, to rocker covers. This was the first TANE implementation of the articulation system and we've been playing around with it for a few years trying to get the loco to play nice with all the other locomotives out there. The end result is we think we've hit the most realistic implementation of this feature. The articulation system also allows the loco to use the Supertrain system. With this system as soon as a crew runs into trouble they can roll the loco forward to a new location using the slot at the front of the loco. This way they don't have to slow down completely and go back to the previous stop to re-run the train. Next is smoke, the G3s smokes nicely for the most part but we also put lots of work into refining the smoke maps and the physics of how the smoke reacts with the loco. We've been getting people to play the loco around the virtual world to ensure this happens. We've also tested the locomotive under E-motion, Tane's collision system as well as our locomotive default setup. With the way the G3s is designed, it's a great engine to work on and we hope you'll enjoy the challenge! This DLC pack is completely free for Trainz DLC owners. And if you buy it at Trainz Store, you will get 30% discount for this DLC. System Requirements: • Windows XP • Windows Vista • Windows 7 • Windows 8 • Windows 10 • Windows Server 2008 • Windows Server 2012 • Windows Server 2016 • All SteamOS supported • All SteamOS supported • Please note: the DLC is only compatible with Steam and the Steam PC/Mac client

Possible liver involvement in acute Epstein-Barr virus infection. An acute viral syndrome was diagnosed in a 36-year-old woman. Liver biopsy demonstrated histopathological evidence of cell-mediated immune (CMI) activation of acute viral hepatitis with active direct immunofluorescence of viral antigens in hepatocytes. These changes were observed only in the periportal zone and did not extend to other liver segments. Epstein-Barr virus (EBV) serology was positive. EBV was detected in the liver using the polymerase chain reaction. Liver function tests and the serum aminotransferase level returned to normal over the next 8 weeks. At follow-up 7 months later the patient's liver function tests had remained normal. Delay of initial presentation to a pediatric emergency department for minor and serious injuries. Trauma is the third leading cause of death in the United States in children younger than age 14 years and the leading cause of death in persons age 1 to 4 years. The purpose of this study was to describe how children with minor and serious injuries present to a level I pediatric emergency department (PED) and to compare their reasons for delaying presentation. Giant Rose Quartz Rainbow Stone: The Healing Power of Color "Color is a great healer, it can even heal physical pain and sorrows. Ground this stone and use it on the body for cancer and stress management." A man named Marshall reports, "I have a great deal of stress and the doctors told me that my kidneys were not working well so I went to the doctor to ask for an alternative solution. They told me that there is no alternative but to begin dialysis and that I was going to die within one year at the rate I was being dialyzed. I really did not believe the doctors and my sister researched a way on the Internet where she found a natural remedy that could cure me. I used this remedy and a week after, the doctors test results showed that my kidneys were completely back to normal. After that I researched and came across this stone. Thank you! Color is the gateway to insight and communications with greater frequency."

Q: transitive relation between orbits A relation R on a set X is called transitive if $(a,b) \in R$ and $(b,c) \in R$ implies $(a,c) \in R$. A subset Y of X is a suborbit of X if $Y = \{x | x \in X \text{ and } \forall y \in X: (y,x) \in R\}$.

Problem: Show that if X is nonempty, then there always exists at least two suborbits
