It does not handle the case where the file was deleted, therefore, it is unnecessary to run the loop. Is there a way to detect if the file existed in the past? The reason I ask is because I have tried to set the file name based on the time it was created but this has caused problems. Also, I found this: Cannot access class file resource [myfile.txt] A: Try using File.delete() on the file. If you find that is not working, then it's probably not a file size problem. It's probably a permission issue. Perhaps it would be useful to give a bit more information about your problem. The local environment, where a large number of patients were treated, included only a few rheumatologic centers, all of them affiliated with the local University Hospital. This may imply a limitation for the diffusion of the findings. We did not evaluate patients at different c6a93da74d
